Toxic cargo a 'ticking time bomb'

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese, but by 2000, that number had risen to 23 percent. And the numbers are projected to continue to rise. By 2010, 30 percent of the population is expected to be obese, and by 2020, that number is projected to reach 35 percent. The increase in obesity is a major public health concern because it is a leading cause of heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that obesity costs the United States $147 billion each year in medical costs and lost productivity. The CDC also reports that obesity is the leading preventable cause of death in the United States. The good news is that there are many ways to prevent and treat obesity. The bad news is that many people do not know how to do it. The following are some tips to help you lose weight and stay healthy.

Nani asks Sandigan to reconsider ruling

MANILA (AP) — Nani M. Magsaysay, widow of the late President Benigno Aquino III, has asked the Sandiganbayan to reconsider its ruling that she must return to the Philippines to face charges of graft and bribery.

The widow of the late president, who died in a plane crash in May 2009, was ordered to return to the Philippines to face charges of graft and bribery. She had been granted a temporary stay order by the Sandiganbayan, but the court ruled that she must return to the Philippines to face charges of graft and bribery.

GMA recalls
order to shut down airport
in Bangor:

1. The first step is to identify the main components of the system. This includes the hardware (CPU, memory, storage) and software (operating system, applications).

2. The second step is to determine the requirements for each component. This includes the performance, reliability, and security requirements.

3. The third step is to select the appropriate components based on the requirements. This involves comparing different options and choosing the best one.

4. The fourth step is to install and configure the components. This includes setting up the hardware and software, and ensuring they are working correctly.

5. The fifth step is to test the system. This involves running various tests to ensure the system is working as expected and meets the requirements.

6. The sixth step is to document the system. This includes creating a user manual, a system architecture diagram, and other relevant documentation.

7. The seventh step is to maintain the system. This includes monitoring the system for problems, updating software, and performing regular maintenance.

8. The eighth step is to upgrade the system. This involves adding new components or upgrading existing ones to improve performance and functionality.

9. The ninth step is to decommission the system. This involves safely removing the system from service and disposing of the hardware and software.

10. The tenth step is to evaluate the system. This involves reviewing the system's performance, reliability, and security, and identifying areas for improvement.

Number of questions	~10	~20	~30	~40

Gov't revises export development plan

Exporters pin growth hopes on services

MANILA, Philippines — The Philippine government has revised its export development plan, focusing more on services exports rather than traditional goods exports. The new plan, unveiled by the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI), aims to diversify the country's export base and reduce its dependence on a few key commodities.

The revised plan, titled "Export Development Plan 2010-2015," identifies services as the primary growth engine for the export sector. Key areas of focus include information technology, business process outsourcing, tourism, and logistics. The plan also emphasizes the need for stronger trade agreements and improved trade facilitation measures to enhance the competitiveness of Philippine exports.

Exporters have welcomed the shift in focus, particularly in the services sector. They believe that the new plan provides a clearer roadmap for growth and offers more targeted support for service-oriented businesses. However, some concerns remain regarding the government's ability to effectively implement the plan, especially in terms of providing the necessary infrastructure and regulatory reforms.

Trade credit

The government is considering a new trade credit scheme to help exporters manage cash flow and reduce the risk of non-payment. The scheme would provide a line of credit to exporters based on their export performance and creditworthiness. This would allow them to better manage their working capital and invest in their operations.

The government is also looking into other measures to improve the trade credit environment, such as strengthening the legal framework for trade credit and promoting the use of trade credit instruments like letters of credit.

Exporters to improve

Exporters are being encouraged to improve their export performance by focusing on quality, innovation, and customer service. The government is providing various support programs and incentives to help exporters achieve these goals. These include access to trade information, technical assistance, and financial support for export-related activities.

Exporters are also being encouraged to explore new markets and diversify their product lines. The government is providing market research and trade mission support to help exporters identify and enter new markets.

Sultan Minding defers IPO

MANILA, Philippines — Sultan Minding, a prominent figure in the business community, has decided to defer its initial public offering (IPO). The company, which has been preparing for the IPO for some time, cited the current market conditions as a factor in its decision. The company's management believes that the current market is not the best time to launch the IPO, and they are waiting for a more favorable environment.

The company's management is also looking for other opportunities to raise capital, such as private placements or debt financing. They believe that these options will provide them with the necessary funds to continue their operations and expand their business.
